DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

1. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

2. Claims 1-31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

For a claim to be statutory under 35 USC 101 the following two conditions must be met:

- 1) In the claim, the practical application of an algorithm or idea result in a useful, concrete, tangible result, AND
- 2) The claim provides a limitation in the technological art that enables a useful, concrete, tangible result.

As to the technology requirement, note MPEP Section iV 2(b). Also note In Re Waldbaum, 173USPQ 430 (CCPA 1972) which teaches “useful arts” is synonymous with “technological arts”. In re Musgrave, 167USPQ 280 (CCPA1970), In re Johnston, 183USPQ 172 (CCPA 1974), and In re Toma, 197USPQ 852 (CCPA 1978), all teach a technological requirements.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1- 31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being unpatentable over May (US 6,421,653).

5. May discloses a method of performing a batch auction comprising the steps of:

- ▶receiving during an order acceptance period orders from a plurality of participants, said orders representing a desire to execute a trade regarding a security (col.16, line 30-col.17, line 20);
- ▶continuously transmitting to said participants information regarding orders as they are received during said order acceptance period (col.7, lines 7-43);
- ▶allowing said participants during said order acceptance period to modify previously submitted orders only if the modification meets a predetermined set of conditions (col.4, line 63-col.5, line10; col.18, line 18-col.19, line 7);
- ▶prohibiting the receiving of orders after said order acceptance period (col.4, line 58-col.5, line 10; it is inherent, in auction systems, to have a predefined bidding period);
- ▶discovering an optimal price at which a maximum number of shares will be executed based on all orders received during said order acceptance period (302, fig.15; col.37, lines 12-27);
- ▶executing a trade of said maximum number of shares at said optimal price (col.37, line 45-col.39, line 29);and
- ▶ wherein said orders include parameters describing a trade, a security identifier, and a quantity of shares (fig.7).

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed 12/16/2003 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

a) Applicant's arguments with regard to State Street are noted but are not persuasive. In State Street, "in the technological arts" was never an issue. The invention in the body of the claim must recite technology. If the invention in the body of the claim is not tied to technological art, environment, or machine, the claim is not statutory. Ex parte Bowman 61USPQ2d 1665, 1671 (BD. Pat. App. & Inter. 2001) (Unpublished)

b) Applicant argues that May does not teach a methodology for accepting new or modified orders during an order acceptance period, where selected information regarding orders is transmitted to auction participants during the order acceptance period. However, May discloses a methodology for accepting new or modified orders (in step 320) during an order acceptance period also in col.43, line 43-67. ("the orders are filled at their entered price or better, and between counterparties that satisfy the credit preferences of one another. The auction mechanism 34 then conducts the auction, preferably utilizing the following constraints and priorities to ensure fairness.

The auction price is calculated by finding the price at which the most volume is traded. This condition is sufficient to generate a fair price, and all transactions should be completed at this price. It is noted that this price is generated without taking credit into account. The matching of orders is completed to ensure that credit preferences (including complex rules) are safe guarded and to ensure that the minimum number of tickets are generated. The better submitted prices will have priority, and all orders at the auction-price are filled in proportion to each other. Under these constraints, the auction mechanism 34 executes the auction, matching users and generating a settlement list. The settlement list comprises the trades resulting from the auction.")

Art Unit: 3628

Therefore prior art clearly teaches a method /system for conducting a batch auction and trading of a financial security.

Conclusion

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
